

EnvisioNano

An image contest hosted by the National Nanotechnology Initiative (NNI), with over 41,000 online views to date!

SUBMIT YOUR IMAGES!

Bring national visibility to your work by sending us pictures that help demonstrate where your research is headed and explain how it may lead to nanotechnologies that benefit society.

PRIZE

The winning submissions will be spotlighted on the NNI website, Nano.gov, and may appear in official publications or be displayed at technical conferences.

For details visit:

<http://www.nano.gov/envisionano>

Questions? Email us

SUBMISSIONS

accepted through May 31, 2016.

PUBLIC VOTING

begins June 6, 2016.

PREVIOUS WINNER

Gelatin Nanoparticles in Brain shows gelatin nanoparticles loaded with stroke medication delivered to the brain after being inhaled through the nose. Clinical tests have shown a significant reduction in brain damage from stroke, as well as improved healing.

Elizabeth Sawicki, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Brought to you by the National Nanotechnology Initiative • www.nano.gov

If you do not wish to receive updates about this event, please email envisioNano@nnco.nano.gov